

To Whom It May Concern,

Do not approve the Daystar Television Network purchase of WMFE for $3 million. The station is important to my family. My children watch the quality programming which teaches basic values, concepts and critical thinking. I appreciate the commercial-free programming and focus on teaching rather than selling to my children. The programming for adults is also top notch and thorough. I know that I will receive extensive information regarding any topic that is discussed without spin, extreme statements, and negative undertones. This is a local treasure.
